ELECTRONIC PUBLICATIONS

The Food Glossary Wiki: This Wiki and its companion annotated bibliography were initiated as a class project for Urban and Regional Planning 711, Markets and Food Systems, at the University of Wisconsin – Madison and is administered by JAFSCD. This Wiki aims to present a comprehensive guide to all food system and agriculture development-related terms. Taken from its definition, a food system is "a dynamic structure consisting of the production, distribution, acquisition, consumption and disposal of food." The wiki is a living collection of scientific, political, and popular words, terms, and acronyms: all things food systems-related. It is our hope that these terms provide an accurate, normative overview of some everyday and some not-so-common phrases about this growing field.

Open-Air Market Net: The World Wide guide to Farmers' markets, Street markets, Flea Markets and Street vendors, initiated with Steve Balkin, Roosevelt University, currently co-edited with Gregg Kettles, Mississippi College of Law, URL:http://www.openair.org/. This webpage is for international scholarly research, teaching and service work on street vendors and street vending. Students and faculty colleagues contact us regularly to discuss research projects. The page has been visited from almost every country in the world. The page serves as a forum for the exchange of research and ideas, which results in a variety of scholarly publications, for myself, and others.
